Transform Your Business

See how teaming with us can give your business an edge

As part of our AV service offerings for integrators, we now provide turnkey engineering services from start to finish for a wide range of projects in commercial AV spaces, education, entertainment and more. Specialized outsourced services for you to offer your customers include:

- › Engineering - We can take conceptual ideas and help turn them into meaningful designs like signal flows, bill of materials, room elevations, conduit and riser runs and so much more with access to programs like Revit, AutoCad, and Sketchup Pro.
- › Drafting - With minimal information and our unique methodologies, we can turn your concepts into thorough designs in any CAD template. This includes signal flows, peer reviews, rack elevations and more.
- › Consulting - We apply our decades of experience to create innovative and streamlined CAD templates and standards for your drafting needs and practices.

How are we different from other drafting and engineering companies?

The big difference is that we are blending our capability with our connected services and hardware offering that give resellers the benefit of utilizing us for ALL of their AV needs. Being able to consolidate and take the pressures off of our dealer and integrator community to have to source from multiple resources to complete a project is a huge added benefit.
